In the Marion County Leader of September 28d, in one of its many editorials against Judge Thurman, appears this extraordinary statement: "A judge who will try to make a law accomplish what it was intended to do by its framers, through the machinery of his court, and which is but a fulfillment of a promise made the populace that he would do so, is not to be trusted." By this we understand the Leader to say that Judge Thurman is not to be trusted because he has tried to carry out the intention of the Legislature in interpreting the meaning of statutes passed by them, and we would say that if Judge Thurman has succeeded in doing this, then he has done all he can do to hope to do as a Circuit Judge and has fulfilled every requirement of that important office. In trying to make a law accomplish what its framers intended, he has on his side the ablest jurists from time whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary," including Sir William Blackstone. The duty of a Circuit Judge as we understand it is not to defeat the intention of the Legislature, but to carry it out. Does our distinguished contemporary wish a judge who will defeat the intention of the Legislature? We wonder what a team of jurisprudence he would inaugurate. What difference whether it be the fulfillment of a promise made the populace or no. If he promised that he would do it, it was but a promise to perform a duty which every circuit judge is sworn to do. What would it avail us to elect representatives to enact laws, if we elected a judiciary to defeat the intention of that body. Is this to be the aim of that promised non-partisan judiciary?

A tramp giving his name as Jim Abell, was arrested and brought to town Tuesday by Sheriff Osbourne and Mr. Put Sharahan who swore out a warrant charging him with burning house on his place in which the tramp is thought to have slept evening. The next morning the

He is now in jail awaiting trial.

in a wisdom across from the

The College Boy.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the forthcoming production of the latest comedy success, "The College Boy," which is to be presented here by J. E. Keller. No comedy production in recent years has attained such immense popularity with the theatre goers who relish it all that is new and good in comedy offerings. Mr. Chas. Riggs, the author, whose fame as a composer is pronounced, has struck the keynote of the public's fan-casy in this latest work. This comedy has made a pronounced hit wherever presented, and local theatregoers will be much in this production of a new, uppresented at the Opera House Saturday night, Oct. 9. Seats
